

COOKIES

No cookies are being placed via the website sandlerprivacylegal.com (hereinafter referred to as the "Site"). However, our website's host, WordPress, may use audience measurement cookies that are strictly necessary to optimize its performance and improve the navigation experience for visitors (hereinafter referred to as "Users"). These essential cookies do not require the consent of Users as long as they comply with legal conditions (such as anonymized statistics). However, Users can adjust their browser settings to block any unwanted cookies. Please be aware that certain parts and services of the Site may not function properly if cookies are blocked.

The legal basis for processing is legitimate interest. All cookies used on the Site have lifespans that comply with legal requirements and/or the durations recommended by the CNIL (French Data Protection Authority).

As data controller of personal data under Article 4 of the GDPR for the Site, we comply with applicable data protection regulations. For more information, please refer to the "Privacy Notice".